ALAMO 5, SAN ANTONIO'S NEWEST SOLAR FARM, WILL PRODUCE POWER FOR 14,000 HOMES

CON EDISON DEVELOPMENT CONTINUES TO BUILD ITS SOLAR PORTFOLIO IN SAN ANTONIO

SAN ANTONIO – July 14, 2015: ConEdison Development, a national developer and operator of large-scale renewable energy projects, today announced that progress is advancing on Alamo 5, a major solar power installation in San Antonio.

Scheduled to commence operation by the end of the year, the photovoltaic solar installation will provide 95 megawatts of renewable power to CPS Energy customers in the San Antonio area, an amount of energy capable of powering approximately 14,000 homes for a year.

Alamo 5, which is located near the previously acquired Alamo 4 and Alamo 3 projects in the San Antonio area, will be one of the largest dual-axis tracker solar projects in the world. It will deliver electricity to CPS Energy customers under a 25-year power purchase agreement.

"We have developed a highly collaborative relationship with the City of San Antonio, and we are proud to be helping the community fulfill its commitment to renewable energy," said Mark Noyes, Senior Vice President and Chief Operating Officer of ConEdison Development. "With the acquisition of these solar projects, Con Edison Development has been significantly expanding the role we play in the Texas renewables sector."
